

Sharon Lee Smith
Assistant Deputy Minister
Saskatchewan Region, Western Economic Diversification

Sharon Lee Smith assumed her responsibilities as Assistant Deputy Minister for the Saskatchewan Region of Western Economic Diversification in the Spring 2008.

Sharon Lee Smith is a graduate of Carleton University with a Masters of Public Administration. Her undergraduate degree was Journalism from Carleton University.

Prior to joining WD, Sharon Lee served as Director General at Environment Canada, and was responsible for Post Kyoto negotiations on climate change, and other international environmental files.

During her career with the Public Service, Sharon Lee also worked for Privy Council Office in the area of environmental and fisheries issues, and Health Canada. At Health Canada she served as Regional Director for northern health and Executive Director, Aboriginal Health Secretariat, First Nations and Inuit Health Branch. She has also held positions with the Government of Ontario.